Old Time Mountain Banjo collects 18 instrumentals and songs featuring banjo by both well- and lesser-known musicians. Clarence Ashley 's version of "Coo Coo Bird" and Charlie Poole / Lucy Terry 's "Don't Let Your Deal Go Down Medley" will be familiar to most old-timey fans, while Whitter - Hendley - Small 's "Shuffle Feet Shuffle" will be less so.

The core of this compilation was originally released by County Records in 1969 as "Mountain Banjo Songs & Tunes", the first collection of pre-war country music banjo performances ever issued. The underlying theme of the collection was that there was no single "old-time" banjo style but rather an astounding variety of approaches to playing the five-string banjo.

As the banjo gained in popularity and status during the early years of the 20th century it rapidly became out of reach to the poorer mountain farmers. An inherent need to make music combined with an infinite amount of resourcefulness lead them to develop their own using whatever materials that come to hand - a handy length of timber and a ground hog was all that was needed to make this iconic banjo.

If you have any interest in "Old Time" mountain music you will not be disappointed in this album. My favorite track is track 15, Orphan Girl, by Buell Kazee. He has a fine clear voice to go along with his banjo style. There are many various old time picking styles heard, clawhammer, two finger etc. and this album is a great mix of styles.
